

NYC's Design Republic Joins ONE Global Design, International Network of Architectural and Interior Design Firms

The ONE Global Design alliance would rank as the 6th largest firm in the country with 17 offices and more than 450 professionals

[NEW YORK, Jan. 27] – Historically, national and international corporations with a need for architectural and interior design services in different cities had two options: Hire different small firms in each market and oversee multiple individual projects, or go with one large firm with the resources but limited local insight, talent, and accountability.

Design Republic, an architecture and interior design firm based in New York City, is one of 17 independent corporate architectural and interiors firms across the United States, Canada, and Mexico changing that approach.

“Industries are changing, and we want to provide services that best respond to our clients’ needs,” said Barry Ludlow, one of six principals at Design Republic. “Even in a globally connected world, there’s a clear value in face-to-face relationships and business partners with boots on the ground in your market.”

ONE Global Design offers a new solution for corporations with multiple projects across the country and internationally – the unique opportunity to tap into the knowledge, experience, and local expertise of 17 firms each considered best-in-class in their respective markets. The network approach allows corporations to work with an architecture firm that’s familiar with their brand, vision, and company culture in partnership with a firm that understands the nuances of the community where their project is located.

An alliance of more than 450 architecture and interiors professionals, ONE Global Design would collectively rank as the 6th largest architecture and design firm in the country, according to Interior Design 2014 rankings. Yet it’s the local touch that sets the global network apart.

“We are thrilled to be a part of this international network,” Ludlow said. “This is truly a win-win for our clients and for our firm, as it gives us the depth and resources needed to represent our clients across the country and in Canada and Mexico.”
